

Lasting Effects

Avery Lynch

You might've been right
What you said that night
How I'll never find someone like
You and it's such a pity
Now you're nowhere near me
And I can still see the moment

You, you told me who
Would love me like you
Well no one should

Cuz you know I think my hair looks good short
And I dance now without feeling wrong
I'm protective of things that I want and I mean it
And I found out that I like my voice from my own mouth
And I kinda hate the way yours sounds
And you thought that you left me wrecked
But these were your lasting effects

I hate to admit it
I also believed in
Whatever I was in your eyes
But you should check on your vision
The moment that I did
I couldn't get far enough from

You, you told me who
Would love me like you
Well no one should

Cuz you know I think my hair looks good short
And I dance now without feeling wrong
I'm protective of things that I want and I mean it
And I found out that I like my voice from my own mouth
And I kinda hate the way yours sounds
And you thought that you left me wrecked
But these were your lasting effects

Cuz you know I think my hair looks good short
And I dance now without feeling wrong
I'm protective of things that I want and I mean it
And I found out that I like my voice from my own mouth
And I kinda hate the way yours sounds
And you thought that you left me wrecked
