

Not Ready Yet

Avery Lynch

They said I'd move on and I'm waiting
I'm starting to run out of patience
And maybe I'm not ready yet
Maybe I don't wanna forget, no
And I've been real tired of pretending
That there's someone better just waiting
And I don't think I want that
Yeah I don't think I'm ready yet
And maybe I'll move on when I've felt it's long gone
But I don't think we're there yet, no

I can't believe what I'm saying
I know no one understands it
You have my heart in your hands and I don't want it back yet
Don't even know what I'm thinking
This sort of thing could be dangerous
You've had my heart since I gave it and I don't want it back yet
No I don't want it back yet
No I don't want it back yet

I say it out loud and I know it
It's a little bit sad I'm still holding
And maybe I'm just hopeless
But I swear I'm doing my best, yeah
And it's not about feeling lonely
There's no one that I need to hold me
But if I had someone again, I really hope it's you
Yeah I don't think I'm ready yet

I can't believe what I'm saying
I know no one understands it
You have my heart in your hands and I don't want it back yet
Don't even know what I'm thinking
This sort of thing could be dangerous
You've had my heart since I gave it and I don't want it back yet
No I don't want it back yet
No I don't want it back yet

I swear I'll take my heart back one day
But for now could you hold on to it?
I swear I'll take my hear back one day
But for now could you hold on to it?

I can't believe what I'm saying
I know no one understands it
You have my heart in your hands and I don't want it back yet
Don't even know what I'm thinking
This sort of thing could be dangerous
You've had my heart since I gave it and I don't want it back yet
No I don't want it back yet
No I don't want it back yet
No I don't want it back yet
No I don't want it back yet
