

Blur the Line

Aviators

I don't want to feel the numbness that you do
To what's true
I can break the seal on the barrier you'd made
A barricade
Turn your nights into days
Turn their blank, hollow gaze
Because they don't see you
And they don't want to

Here
I stand alone
I blur
The line
Marking your throne

I don't want to be the leader that you are
It's too far
I can be the struggle that tears the black veil
A balanced scale
Turn your nights into days
Turn their blank, hollow gaze
Because they don't see you
And they don't want to

Here
I stand alone
I blur
The line
Marking your throne

Break the ties
Swallow pride, and leave behind
A dark regime
Now wipe it clean
They don't know, they can't see
That's why this task is up to me
This isn't right, it's not the end
It's gone too far to just pretend
This is all fallacy
This is reality

Here
I stand alone
I blur
The line
Marking your throne
Here
I stand alone
I blur
The line
Marking your throne