

Find Me

Aviators

Far away now
Trapped at the start of all we know
Traces of doubt
Keep on obscuring my way out
Lost in days gone
Living in a memory turned wrong
So far that I wake up now afraid
When I can hear a whisper

Tell me to stay
Find me the chance to walk away
Show me the path
Home to you in the aftermath
Guilty with shame
Of leaving you helpless in the flames
So that we could thrive when I return
When I can hear you whisper

In the beat of your heart
I can still hear a spark
I'll follow all the signs
Across a thousand years in time, you'll know me
I've been back to the start
From the very last part
And all the stars align
To lead you to this place to find me waiting

What is it worth
To give it all up for new rebirth
If I could be strong
Then maybe this wouldn't feel so wrong
Now that I'm lost
And now that I know this victory's cost
Whisper a prayer to guide me home
Into the deep unknown

I never asked to walk the road alone
But someday I'll make it home
Don't let the lifeline disappear
To guide me back when hope is near Promise a future I can come back to
When now all I have is you
I'll follow all the signs
Across a thousand years in time

I'm breaking
We're fading
But you're not alone
One more try
For tonight
I can't do this on my own
