

The noise has settled down
Before the storm arises
A never ending climb
No road to run away
We're scared to keep on fighting
We're running out of time

Fractured skies and acid rain
We are sent unknown
Temples high in trails of pain
For a moonlit throne

The hourglass avails
So haste must beat temptation
The dream we're living out
Is not imagination
Across a living tomb
We fight wholly outnumbered
To swiftly face our doom
And face the cosmic thunder

Fractured skies and acid rain
We are sent unknown
Temples high in trails of pain
For a moonlit throne

Take a look across the hordes
If you don't trust me
Our nightmares will evolve
And so must we

The chemicals
They settle in
The atmosphere
Breaches my skin
And there is not one ally left alive
This time, this time
The planet's wrath
A natural will
Against the test
Adapted skill
When the odds overwhelm us we survive

Take a look across the hordes
If you don't trust me
Our nightmares will evolve
And so must we