

Do any of these words make sense
Am I fighting to be heard but leaving no defence
Can you understand where I'm coming from
All my friends are dead
And their bodies gone
We live in selfish introspection of our own dark light
Polluting minds with retrospection was it worth the fight?
I can't seem to find the escape hatch
But I'm sick of sitting tight
Trapped inside warheads I'm bunkered with ashen soul
Your crooked heart's still beating, begging eyes to witness more

Causing our own demise
Causing our own demise
Causing our own demise
Causing our own

Are we just drowning?
Can you please save us
Black walls surrounding
Can you please save my soul?
Are we just drowning?
Can you please save us
Black walls surrounding
Can you please save my soul?

Counting sheep to fall asleep in my lonely hole
In the wall of this city's ever darkening core
All opinions change as you'll learn to see
It seems insincere
Call it a human plea
The blind will lead the blind into their tangled web of lies
Chasing phantom vision of a past they left behind
A victim of another hack plan
Tired of wasting time
Trapped inside warheads I'm bunkered with ashen soul
Your crooked heart's still beating, begging eyes to witness more

Causing our own demise
Causing our own demise
Causing our own demise
Causing our own

Are we just drowning?
Can you please save us
Black walls surrounding
Can you please save my soul?
Are we just drowning?
Can you please save us
Black walls surrounding
Can you please save my soul?
