

Traitors

Awake The Dreamer

They are the ones without heart
They tear our families apart
Where will we end up from here
(Where will we end up from here)

We are the ones they choose
To die because of our roots
But what if they'd try
To walk a mile in our boots

Every step we take
Leads us further together
But every choice they make
Will take us closer forever

Every step we take
Leads us further together
But every choice they make
Will take us closer forever

We roam this empty cage
From thick to thin we march the stage
A decade of gray and rust
We are the ones they turn to dust

We are the ones they turn to dust

We are without reproach
Yet were the ones they accuse
They call us traitors
And we have nothing to choose

They chain us like dogs
And put us to work
A life we are forced
Come on just do your worst

Just do your worst
We are the ones they turn to dust

Every step we take
Leads us further together
But every choice we make
Will take us closer forever

Oh we have lost so much
Feels like you're tightening my rope
But one thing is clear
We haven't lost our hope

We roam this empty cage
From thick to thin we march the stage
A decade of gray and rust
We are the ones they turn to dust

We roam this empty cage
From thick to thin

Can't climb these fences no more
We are the ones they turn to dust
