Awaken I Am

Open your eyes, to realise
The matters that they disguised
In a need of fighting for
You made a fortune in these lies
When all hope is tried and failed
You refused to stand alone

I can't believe
All these conspiracies
That we've been led to perceive
For all I see
That's laid in front of me
Is everything I never want to be

I know it's hard to imagine
Just how I'm feeling
When all emotions
That were burned are now restored
I feel like I've been here before
With open arms
But a locked door
And now I'm fighting
For the chance to find
What I once had before

What is a win when all you've
Gained is a loss
What is a man who denied himself
What is the cost
