

Humble, Not Humbled

Awaken I Am

Watch this rope burn
There's only one that's right
So make it tight and don't stop it's catching on
Two steps forward now you're looking good
I'll be the one to compliment the way you look
(That you look)
Don't stop these walls from falling
Don't stop these veins from running

This time they're going to swallow their pride
I wish they were ready for more
This time, they're only counting the falls
We seem to be heading for

So won't you move my way
And when we move, we'll make them move
Sit them right back down
I don't want to play them
And when we move, we'll make them move

Maybe it's just me, maybe I just want to make them nervous
(Make them nervous)
Take me to the other place I know and make them nervous

This time they're going to swallow their pride
I wish they were ready for more
This time they're only counting the falls
We seem to be heading for
This time, not even bothered by your pride
We're set for the others to fall

Please go, please go, please let them right in (Let them right in)
And when the sky comes falling, they want to stop and stare
I find it all so charming when
It's all aware and now it's all aware
