

Won't Take You Back

Aynsley Lister

Can't you remember, the good times that we had
You threw it all away and you left me for another man
Oh but I took you back, said it was a mistake
But don't come running back now because I won't take you back a gain

I won't take you back again

In the cold light of day things don't seem the same
It might be sunny now but tomorrow may be rain, hey hey
Looks like rain
But I won't take you back again

I'll been over you one day pretty soon
Put my heart back together that was broke over you
But for now my tears, you know they fall like rain
I hope you're happy now because I won't take you back again

I won't take you back again

In the cold light of day things don't seem the same
It might be sunny now but tomorrow may be rain
Looks like rain
But I won't take you back, I won't take you back again

Won't take you back, won't take you back again
Won't take you back, won't take you back again

Won't take you back, won't take you back again
Won't take you back, won't take you back again