"We have reached our first destination: the black hole in the Virgo cluster of galaxies.

But what will we find inside? Its power is immeasurable. Our hopes and fears intermingle as we stand at the event horizon. Will its doorway transport us to our faraway planet Earth, or will its fury merciless ly tear us apart?"

[Bruce Dickinson, Lana Lane]

[A. THE EYE OF THE UNIVERSE]

A dark sphere surrounds us Surreal...oblivious...
In the centre of the galaxy A hidden force has found us Powerful...mysterious...
At the boundary of eternity

Nothing escapes, not even light Beyond the mystical horizon We surrender to its might Gazing into the eye of the universe

A deep roar is sounding Deafening...thunderous... As if the universe were crying My heart is pounding Frantic...delirious... My every nerve is dying

[B. HALO OF DARKNESS]

I hear screams of fallen souls, sad cries of agony Within the void of this evil hole, deep inside the black

Could it be my imagination, the mirror of my fantasy? A fear-induced hallucination
Or is there no way back from the halo of darkness?

Spirits - apparitions - misery - suffering Horrid dreams and dire visions rising up from the black

Look away in disbelief, this cannot be happening The end has come, I bow in grief There is no way back from the halo of darkness

[C. THE FINAL DOOR]

Now silence devours us
Massive...suffocating...
The calm before the storm
Gravity overpowers us
Invincible...dominating...
And leads us through the final door

Feed me light, I'm the halo of darkness
Feel my might, I'm the eye of the universe