We catch sight of, find, grasp
We stare, entranced, fulfilled, but

We look up, catch sight of, compare, and then
We belittle, confused, and let go

Because everyone, everywhere, is connected
So that when you're thinking of these words, I already am

Ah, how many precious words can we exchange
By the time we someday fall into an eternal sleep?

We catch sight of, find, grasp
We stare, entranced, fulfilled, but

We look up, catch sight of, compare, and then
We belittle, confused, and let go

Because everyone, everywhere, is connected
So that when you're thinking of these words, I already am
