

Intro (Truth Be Told)

AZ

Truth be told
We are not the sum total of our experiences
What we experience are just mere milestones and lessons
That we must learn and reach, so that we can become greater souls
Life is continuity
It doesn't begin in the womb, nor does it end in the grave
No one can define you
The moment you allow them to define you
Then you allow them to become your God
You must realize that you are the grand architect of your own reality
Tap into your imagination
And shift your current condition
Into what it is you truly desire to see about yourself
See, when the people don't control their wealth
They don't control their conditions
If you can't control your wealth, you can't truly control your food source
Or your living conditions, or circumstances
But until we have control over our wealth
We'll forever be distressed
