Azure Ryder

A broken heart
Is hard to come by
When a single touch
Can push you back in time
But every wound
Has a date
And when it expires
I'm moving on

It's the way that the sun comes climbing
Up the sky in the middle of the night
And everybody is really hoping they'll be fine in a matter of time

Now I finally understood
That I'm ready to feel good
And the darkness only stood
Where the light was overlooked
It's the way your body moves
That can break away the blues
I'm not hiding all my wounds
But I'm ready to feel good

I'm getting tired of clenching my jawline
When I threw my love into a blazing fire
But every bruise has to fade
And I realise that I'm not alone

Now I finally understood
That I'm ready to feel good
And the darkness only stood
Where the light was overlooked
It's the way your body moves
That can break away the blues
I'm not hiding all my wounds
But I'm ready to feel good

It's the way that the sun comes climbing
Up the sky in the middle of the night
And everybody is really hoping they'll be fine in a matter of time

Now I finally understood
That I'm ready to feel good
And the darkness only stood
Where the light was overlooked
It's the way your body moves
That can break away the blues
I'm not hiding all my wounds
But I'm ready to feel good

Now I finally understood
That I'm ready to feel good
And the darkness only stood
Where the light was overlooked
It's the way your body moves
That can break away the blues
I'm not hiding all my wounds
But I'm ready to feel good
