

Luckiest Man In The World

B.J. Thomas

The luckiest man in all the world
We could have a good life together
We'll build a home of diamonds and pearls
Ah-ah-ah, you've given me your arms and your lips
And your heart and your love
And I guess I'm the luckiest man in this wide world

From the day I first met you
The girl in all my dreams had come true
Ah-ah-ah, blue skies and smiling and everything's right
That you've become my girl
And I guess I'm the luckiest man in this wide world

The luckiest man in this wide world
The luckiest man in all the world

I'll hold you tight every morning
And rush into your arms every night
Ah-ah-ah, you've got the face of an angel
You're warm and you're real
And I guess I'm the luckiest man in this wide world

The luckiest man in this wide world
The luckiest man in all the world
And I guess I'm the luckiest man in this wide world
Yes, I guess I'm the luckiest man in this wide world
Oh, I guess I'm the luckiest man in this wide world