

The Mask

B.J. Thomas

There's a look in your eyes
A smile just can't disguise
From the one who knows ya so well
And the words you tell me
Have all been memorized
Woman stop pretending
Baby you're not satisfied

It's just a mask that you're wearing
And I know it
To hide the love you've been sharing
But you show it

It's written on your face
Like satin on ya babe
Oh baby baby
What's happened to you
What ya trying to do

Oh yes I know your secrets
But I don't wanna play
And everytime you hold me
It's just a masquerade

It's just a mask that you're wearing
And I know it
To hide the love you've been sharing
But you show it

It's written on your face
Like satin on ya babe
Oh tell me baby
Oh tell me baby
What's happened to you
What ya trying to do

It's just a mask that you're wearing
Girl and I know it
To hide the love that you've been sharing
But you show it

It's just a mask that you're wearing
And I know it
To hide the love that you've been sharing
But you show it

It's just a mask that you're wearing
And I know it
To hide the love that you've been sharing
But you show it
