

Roses In The Snow

Baccara

One moonlight winter midnight
You came to say goodbye,
Your love was dying
And you told me so.
And then you've gone forever,
I somehow couldn't cry
When in my garden I saw roses grow.

I can't forget the roses, roses in the snow,
Outshining stars and winter moonlight,
Believe me I'll remember
That night one cold December
When I saw red roses in the snow.

I can't forget the roses though I'll never know,
What made them grow like summer sunshine,
Believe me I'll remember
That night one cold December
When I saw red roses in the snow.

My life has been so lonely
Unchanging since you gone,
There's no more dreaming
You'll come back to me,
Sweet memories die slowly
Just fading like a song,
That keeps recalling love that used to be.

I can't forget the roses, roses in the snow,
Outshining stars and winter moonlight,
Believe me I'll remember
That night one cold December
When I saw red roses in the snow.

I can't forget the roses though I'll never know,
What made them grow like summer sunshine,
Believe me I'll remember
That night one cold December
When I saw red roses in the snow.

Believe me I'll remember
That night one cold December
When I saw red roses in the snow.

If I should live forever
I know that I would never
See again red roses in the snow.
