

Sing Our Love A Lullaby

Baccara

I still love so much of you
The things you say, the things you do
If I need a helping hand
I know that yours is best
Little lies and alibies
Have lately made me realize
It's time to give our love a rest
And that's why I suggest

Tonight we'll
Sing our love a lullaby
We'll let it sleep
But we won't let it die
We better
Sing our love a lullaby
Because our love's too young to die
And when it wakes
We'll give it one more try

You still love me too you say
And you are so sure in every way
You and I still have to fly
Before we build our nest
Little lies and alibies
Don't they make you realize
The little rest that I suggest
Is more than just a test

Tonight we'll
Sing our love a lullaby
A sweet and tender lullaby
We'll let it sleep
But we won't let it die
We better
Sing our love a lullaby
Because our love's too young to die
And when it wakes
We'll give it one more try

I'm not taking 'bout security
Maybe it's maturity
We will see and time will tell
Till then I wish you well

Sing our love a lullaby
A sweet and tender lullaby
We'll let it sleep
But we won't let it die
We better
Sing our love a lullaby
And when it wakes
