We're widespread and well fed
The earth's rotatin' fate is in our head, oh yeah

We're dominant and prominent And our deity's omnipotent, oh yeah

And immortality's in our mastermind And we destroy everything that we find

And tomorrow when the human clock stops and the world stops tic kin'

We'll be an index fossil buried in our own debris

We're listless, promiscuous And life to us is either hit or miss, oh yeah

We're savoir faire and debonair
And things we do are done with pride and care, oh yeah

And immortality's in our mastermind And we destroy everything that we find

And tomorrow when the human clock stops and the world stops tic kin'

We'll be an index fossil buried in our own debris

See immortality's in our mastermind

And we destroy everything that we find

And tomorrow when the human clock stops and the world stops tic kin'

We'll be an index fossil buried in our own debris In our own debris