You said you'd always have my back
Guess you've gotten too busy
You got me smokin' on this reefer until I am dizzy
I'm gettin' messed up, not held down (Hell no)
Tell me why the same person you love will tell you to go rot in hell now?
I said I love you, but really I guess it's all lies
Who am I kidding? I guess it's really my luck
Want it forever, but I guess that it was not us
I wanted more from you, now I don't think I can trust
I been ditching the demons and chasing freedom
Then trading my odds for evens
But can't escape all these memories
Yeah I've been fighting the tide
But it's getting tighter to fight off all these titans
And break away what they put on me

Running, running low
I been running, running low
No matter where I go
Always running on my own
Running, running low
I been running, running low
No matter where I go
Always running on my own

Here we go

This pressure takes a toll

I know I'm losing control
I try to run a little longer
But my tank is on low
What direction am I heading
I'm stressing for a few seconds
I'm second-guessing my method
I'm double-checking my obsession
Got me confessing
That I'm so burnt out
But there's no turn around now
I'm gon' make it somehow
I'm the one to figure it out
I put my two feet on the ground
I won't back down now
I swear I'll make you proud

Running, running low
I been running, running low
No matter where I go
Always running on my own
Running, running low
I been running, running low
No matter where I go
Always running on my own

World peace
I'm a soldier
Yeah yeah
No matter where I go
Always running on my own
