

Ain't It Sweet

Balance and Composure

I'm spellbound. I forget to breathe.
Dumbfounded. I cannot, cannot believe
You came down. Something of a dream.
Showed nature who you are and now you come for me

You consume me like a tidal wave
How could I refuse?

What changed? I'd love if you explained
It's not working for ya
Got the paranoia when I'm walking to my car
Then bang! I'm bursting into flames
Is it gonna burn forever?
Never did I think you'd ever take me for all I've got

You consume me like a tidal wave
How could I refuse?
Let it ruin. Let it overflow.
In the wake of you

Ain't it sweet?
Sugar cane pressed to a virgin tongue
Been searching for a reason every moment of the day and then I found this one
Stole the air right out my lungs
And I just know it means it when it's speaking, yet it speaks o nly to me

But it's a dream to finally have it understood
Give in to its beauty there's no need to be afraid
I take another form
There's nothing here that I can't love
Oh you got me spellbound and it's worth it now when I forget to breathe