Balligomingo

All you, you give me the love
all you, you give me the love
locked in your rhythm

I was torn out
from underneath you burned a little fire for you

I always thought that I was the source of light and without me you wouldn't want to survive should I give my love to you

breathe
I always thought that I was the source of light
breathe
I always thought that I was the source of light

I was all revved out while it ran through burned a little fire for you let it run through won't believe

don't deceive
don't you leave
I always need it

I always thought that I was the source of light to you

breathe
I always thought that I was the source of light
breathe
I always thought that I was the source of light for you

breathe
always thought that I was the source of light
breathe
always thought that I was the source of light in the world

breathe,
always thought that I was the source of light
for you

don't deceive
don't you leave

the one
breathe
always thought that I was the source of light for you
