

Bruce Wayne

Ballyhoo!

Is it me? Is it you? Is it everyone around me?
It's the truth, I can't take the realizations are alarming
I'm a mess, get no rest, thoughts and prayers are disarming
Feeling empty, I'm tapped out
Lashing out at those who love me

Because I lost another piece of me
Yeah and I don't wanna fall apart again
Cause I told my father we'd do great things
Just need a little spark to light the flame
And I can keep the fire burning
Oh, You're only one hit song away
We live to fight another day

When I wake up, apparitions that I see
All the things and the people that came together to make me
Cause I'm f*cked up
I miss my dad and my momma
Trying to process all the drama
Try to swallow all the drama

Because I lost another piece of me
Yeah and I don't wanna fall apart again
Cause I told my father we'd do great things

Just need a little spark to light the flame
And I can keep the fire burning
Oh, You're only one hit song away
We live to keep the fire burning
Oh, you're only one hit song away
We live to fight another day

No, just tell me this is a dream
Cause it feels so real coming apart at the scenes
But I'll rise up
I fought the evil inside
Darkest corners of my mind
One demon at a time
I'll use my powers for good
For any affected
And I will lift up the people
And we'll rebuild from the wreckage

Lost another piece of me
And I don't wanna fall apart again
Cause I told my father we'd do great things
Just need a little spark to light the flame

And I can keep the fire burning
Oh, you're only one hit song away
We gotta keep the fire burning
Oh, you're only one hit song away
We live to fight another day