Ballyhoo!

i know youre feeling like the noose is tight this room around you's small and theres no light you always feel you have to make things right but please dont feel you have to lose this fight alone on the run constantly all the time so far away i could've sworn that i was closer and now i feel im running out of time i lose control and then i know that its all over and nothings ever gonna be just fine ive taken on more than i planned you shot me down, no where to land im lost out here and left behind im just looking for a sign
