

Powerless

Balthazar

Oh when you don't see it coming
When it hits, you cannot move at all
And it all happens in a second
You find yourself staring at a wall

I look left but everything is black there, honey
I look right I can see what's going on
I look back and everything is perfect, honey
But then your light is coming on

Power
Less and less it comes to this
Power
Shut down and restart
Power
Less and less it came to this
Power
It's the reset of the heart

Oh when you don't see it coming
When it hits, you stumble and you fall
And you're reminded there's a button
And when it's pushed, an angel makes a call

I look left but everything is black there, honey
I look right I can see what's going on
I look back and everything is perfect, honey
But then your light is coming on

Power
Less and less it comes to this
Power
Shut down and restart
Power
Less and less it came to this
Power
It's the reset of the heart
