Bambix

When will you come to your sense
Are you excluded from rules?
You keep on pointing your finger
Pointing your finger at those other fools
Where I believed in so-long
You said goodbye
I'm giving myself another reason to stay
You're giving me another dark blue eye

I can't see the light that shines on you and me
Won't you give me one more chance

The beer in the refrigerator
Has no chance to get cold
No matter how full I stuff it
Your eyes have the shape of the bottles you hold
And I don't dare to ask
Can you put it down?
Then I'm giving myself another reason to kill
Because you're giving me another dark blue eye

It gets so hot, I open the window
Wash my hands and put the kettle on Something's boiling inside of me
And it's been there for too long
It gets so hot, I close all the windows
Put on the oven and let the gas come out
I get my coat and I walk away
You're asleep you won't make a sound

I can't see the light that shines on you and me
I just took my only chance
