Dinner At 6

Bamboo

Dinner at 6 I can no longer wait for your call I've been waiting for days It's hard for me to think you've forgotten my number When we had such a nice chat the other day Hope nothing serious has happened it's been a good weekend Called my mother 3 times My streaks finally broken It's been awhile since I've seen such a lovely face Will nothing spoil my day Let nothing spoil my day I'm afraid to look Only to find You could be just like the rest Give me a sign You think you've figured me out I'm a mess still you want to stay Like fine wine this keeps getting better with time so what's th e delay Well I know this all looks bad but underneath it all But your timing couldn't be any better this is my curtain call Well I know you know my name that little look you gave gave you awav So behave I'll be nice mother I don't need to be told twice 6 i n the morning I'm still here I'm still here What you read in the paper I tell you their lies Stop looking at me with those vanishing eyes The gods have spoken and I'm forced to fib it was the night of night I went out for a little drink Met up with an old friend said hello Goodbye, I gotta go Home Only to find nobody You afraid to take a hard look let me sell you my story It's tragic You think you've figured me out you still don't wan t to stay Save my tears for later I got something cooking Let's not delay Better behave Take a better look at myself Better behave take a closer look at myself This is a shame This is a shame Have I fallen from grace Have I fallen from grace I've fallen I've fallen I've fallen
