Self Help

Banks Arcade

I'm calling you up
To see how you've been
Did we make it out
Did they like the end

Did you find somebody that makes you feel whole
Did you make up for all the lies you told

Where's all that money and wheres all your friends
Did you make your father proud
Are you still a mess

What does it feel like
Are you still afraid
What's the price of dealing with the pain today

Do you see the world behind Versace frames
Do you go out for a drink and everybody knows your name

Are your pockets feelin heavy
Swerve in that Mercedes

Tell me do they scream when you say are you fuckin ready
Did you go and make history
Did you show those mother fuckers what this meant to me
Or am I just a
Waste of space
Still can't change
All those times I thought I could make right

Don't stop now kid your wasting day light

Don't stop now kid your wasting day light
It's too late to talk so start yelling

Blow your heart all over the bassline
Fuck that noise it's just what you wanted

Don't stop now kid your wasting day light
It's to late to talk so start yelling

Blow your heart all over the bassline
Fuck that noise it's just what you wanted

I just turned another page
Man it's funny how we all fall apart at some point
Like always I missed it
Make up the difference
Talking to myself like I get everything right

Did you wake up alone
What's that name in your phone
Do we figure it out
Is it everything and more
Do they ever start to tell

Or better yet did you forgive yourself

Can you stand in your own skin
Is the mirror being better do you need that shot of liquor just to say that you're ok
You did your best

Don't stop now kid your wasting day light
It's too late to talk so start yelling

Blow your heart all over the bassline
Fuck that noise it's just what you wanted

Don't stop now kid your wasting day light
It's too late to talk so start yelling

Blow your heart all over the bassline
Fuck that noise it's just what you wanted
