

Too Soon

BANNERS

To the incense and the distance and the light
We set fire to our bedclothes in the night
For all I knew is we'd be alright broke in two
I just left this too soon

And if I had it all to do again
Then I'd hold every second with you and never let it end
'Cause I was wrong and now I see it right
Should have walked through the storm just to see what's on the other side

Now I'm older and I'm wiser and it's true
I'm no better and I'm no stronger without you
And in the darkness between sunset and the rising moon
I just left this too soon

And if I had it all to do again
Then I'd hold every second with you and never let it end
'Cause I was wrong and now I see it right
Should have walked through the storm just to see what's on the other side

It was always you
It was always you
It was always you
It was always you

And in the dead of the night
You were my guiding light
That I could follow
And it's too late I know
To make a promise and hope
If I could just go back I'd hold Hold, hold on

And if I had it all to do again
Then I'd hold every second with you and never let it end
'Cause I was wrong and we could get it right
Should have walked through the storm just to see what's on the other side

It was always you
It was always you
It was always you
It was always you
