

midsummer eve

Banshee

Waiting for nightfall to quiet my chest
On a midsummer eve when the sun never rests

Was it worth it to you in the end?
Do you feel like a man? Do you sleep better now?
Did you hold onto the light that you stole
From my eyes, every night, does it shine just for you?

Was it worth all the blood in your bed?
Did you wash out the stains, do you sleep in them?
Did you find another girl with my name
Did you do it again? Do you think that you've changed?

Waiting for nightfall to quiet my chest
On a midsummer eve when the sun never rests
You're somewhere far but the sky won't forget
And my dreams, they don't sleep, though the night never came