

Midnight

Barcelona

Curled around your bed you're lost in your head
I get lost in your words
You feel far too deep and it keeps you from sleep and I know that it hurts Tell me everything that you lost Show me every home that you left behind Point out all the ones that you loved I've got time

Please don't be sad.
You don't have to smile to make it back
It's a new midnight, a new sunrise
and that can't be bad

Breaking through your walls gets hard when I fall but I think you should know When you hide away from life and shiver at night, I've been there before I'll tell you everything that I've lost Show you every home that I left behind Point out all the ones that I loved.
We've got time

Please don't be sad.
You don't have to smile to make it back
It's a new midnight, a new sunrise
and that can't be bad.
And I'll stay and help you find a way in the new midnight
the new sunrise every day

And don't wake up and say everything will be just fine Lie to yourself at least everybody has to try.
Tell me and show me you're right

Please don't be sad
You don't have to smile to make it back
It's a new midnight, a new sunrise
and that can't be bad
And I'll stay and help you find a way in the new midnight
the new sunrise every day
