

Here It Comes Again

Barry Palmer

You ask me where I'm going
I tell you I'm just passing through
It was such an amazing coincidence
Me running into you
Me running into you

You take my hand and squeeze it
Tell me this is really nice
The you kiss my cheek and you say let's waks
As you looking into my eyes
Yes you looking into my eyes

But oh, here it comes again
What's locked inside I'm not revealing
And oh, back on my knees again
I've got to hide the love I'm feeling.

You say it must be four years
I know it's very nearly five
Ever since that day when I moved away
I have never felt alive
I have never felt alive

Oh, here it comes again
What's locked inside I'm not revealing
And oh, back on my knees again
I've got to hide the love I'm feeling.

You say you must be going
Got a milion things to do
It was such an amazing coincidence
Me running into you
Me running into you

But oh, here it comes again
What's locked inside I'm not revealing
And oh, back on my knees again
I've got to hide the love I'm feeling.
