Innocent

Barry Palmer

Pick up, pick up on anything, your world is wild, but you fight to keep control.

Suffer, taking too much on board determined to hoard, all the pain inside your soul.

But I know you and I understand why you feel the way you feel.
There's a shadow hanging over you but it's not your fault because

You're innocent, you're innocent you know
You're innocent, you're innocent I know
You're innocent, you're innocent you know
Innocent.

That's life, sometimes we make mistakes, take a wrong turn, see our bridges burn behind.

Put it down, down to experience.
Don't turn around, there is nothing there to find.

'Cos I know you and I understand
why you feel the way you feel.
There's a shadow hanging over you
but it's not your fault because

You're innocent, you're innocent you know
You're innocent, you're innocent I know
You're innocent, you're innocent you know
Innocent.

Pick up, pick up where you left off get back on track, you don't know until you've tried.

Don't give up, you won't always feel this way, you're not alone, I am standing at your side.

'Cos I know you, so I understand
why you feel the way you feel.
There's a shadow hanging over you
but it's not your fault because

You're innocent, you're innocent you know
You're innocent, you're innocent I know
You're innocent, you're innocent you know
You're innocent, you're innocent I know
You're innocent, you're innocent you know
You're innocent, you're innocent I know
You're innocent, you're innocent you know
Innocent.
