Bart Crow

Well I see you standin' there in your favorite gown
Worries about us scattered on the ground
And I told you from the start
That I would never break your heart
Cause I miss you, I just miss you

Lonely yea I'm all alone
Sad and blue by this telephone
And I'm learning how to live without your love tonight
Spread your wings and you had to fly
And your flying so high above the sky
And I'm learning how to live without your love tonight
Without your love tonight

Girl when I met you, you told me you had to fly away,
But I thought your love for me could make you stay
And I'm so damn proud of you
Even if my heart is sad and blue
Cause I miss you, I just miss you

Lonely yea I'm all alone
Sad and blue by this telephone
And I'm learning how to live without your love tonight
Spread your wings and you had to fly
And your flying so high above the sky
And I'm learning how to live without your love tonight
Without your love tonight

Maybe some day our love can find its way back around
Maybe my heart won't be so broken down
And I'm so damn proud of you
Even if my heart is sad and blue
Cause I love you, I still love you

Lonely yea I'm all alone
Sad and blue by this telephone
And I'm learning how to live without your love tonight
Spread your wings and you had to fly
And your flying so high above the sky
And I'm learning how to live without your love tonight
Without your love tonight
