

Nothing Left

Basement

Love and trust, such a funny game
Learning as we play
One by one, counting down
One by one, our hearts are broken

Hey, this is my mistake
The last one I will ever make
I'll take all that I could take
There's nothing left for me to say
Hey, this is my mistake
There's nothing left for me, for me
(Our hearts are broken)

If I must, I confess
This my sin is crimson red
Have I fallen far too far to be forgiven?

Hey, this is my mistake
The last one I will ever make
I'll take all that I could take
Hey, this is my mistake
The last one I will ever make
I'll take all that I could take
(Our hearts are broken)

If I lost, I confess
This my sin is crimson red
Have I fallen far too far to be forgiven?

Hey, this is my mistake
The last one I will ever make
I'll take all that I could take
Hey, this is my mistake
The last one I will ever make
I'll take all that I could take
For me, for me
