

Red Wine & Wilde

Bastille

Fill me up with red wine and I'm yours
Spin a couple belly laughs I'm knocking at ya door
Paint me more wild stories from your past
Lay me down confessions, spill secrets on the hotel floor

I thought I'd be yours
Like before, I'd be yours

You could stay, make mistakes until the daylight
Stay, nothing's real after midnight
Underneath this heavy sky
You fuck me up but that's alright
So stay the night, make mistakes until the daylight

We get high so histories repeat
Parallel dimensions in these midnight hours we seek
But back to this one-sided love of ours
It's pretty messed up always hoping drunk mistakes we make play out

I thought I'd be yours
Close the door, I am yours

You could stay, make mistakes until the daylight
Stay, nothing's real after midnight
Underneath this heavy sky
You fuck me up, but that's alright
Stay the night, make mistakes until the daylight

Whisper me these promises we know we won't keep This gospel preaching promises neither of us believe
So lie here making promises till we fall asleep
So echo back my promises, we both know you'll

Stay, make mistakes until the daylight
Stay, nothing's real after midnight
'Cause underneath this heavy sky
You fuck me up, but that's alright
Stay the night, make mistakes until the daylight

Stay the night