Industrialised abortions
The organs lined up on the shelves
Coloured pills guaranteed to keep you at peace
With your pitful fucking selves

So full of nothing behind the closed doors
Of your very own misery
You're getting your share of weird fucking pleasure
Watching humiliation TV

You're all fucking nothing but bricks on a board Pawns in a game moved and owned by faceless high lords Useful a cog in the moneymachine Disposable sellable obedient slaves to extort industry

That's why you Kill Why you want to Kill Why you should Kill And so you Kill

Beauty pagants for the five year old Pay-per-view Christ for your souls The lottery of mammon will provide for you When you are back broken useless and old

But once you are dead and they've shoved You into the forgiving flames They'll refer to you only by a social security number And not your name

Life is no welfare circus you're all born to work and to give Do not even dare to believe in an alternative way which to live So shut up and swallow the pain that keeps eating you up from i nside

And continue to timely pay your fucking taxes until you all fucking dies

That's why you Kill Why you want to Kill Why you should Kill And so you Kill
