Battle Tapes

I think I might be losing myself this time
It's like a slip of the tongue in the turning of tides
I get caught in the words, I over-explain
I can't help myself; it's happening again

And if we let go
And I know, I know, I know we catch fire
And if we let go
We burn so bright the night turns into day

It used to be so easy
To tell if I was dreaming
What used to be a memory
Forever drifting endlessly with you

My heart doesn't beat like then
When I first saw your face and tasted your skin
As the sun goes down, casting shades of doubt, I've been here before
What's lost out to sea doesn't always wash ashore

And if we let go
And I know, I know, I know we catch fire
And if we let go
We burn so bright the night turns into day

It used to be so easy
To tell if I was dreaming
What used to be a memory
Forever drifting endlessly
It used to be so easy
To tell if I was dreaming
What used to be a memory
Forever drifting endlessly with you

Forever drifting endlessly with you
I know, I know, I know we catch fire
Forever drifting endlessly with you

I've been broken down so far
I get lost in the words that you say
Just drifting away
