

Fool

Bazanji

New to me
You spending all my time
Now you're a fool to me
Had to find out you told me lies
That's news to me
Had to give up, switch sides
Now you're a fool to me
Guess I'll be better off by myself

Ay, I tell everyone the truth but I'm lying to myself
Got this pain inside my body that the bottle doesn't help
It feel like a robbery the way you took my heart and left
I done gave you everything and now you leaving me on read
Maybe this is for the best I don't know right now
I been checking for your text on my phone right now
I don't see it coming through, I'm all alone right now
I'm praying God got a plan that He can show right now
They say time heals everything, I waited for a minute
The clock keeps ticking, I'm still hurting, I'll admit it
I seen rock bottom, it's uncomfortable to hit it
But the pain makes me grow so I gotta take a visit, come on

New to me
You spending all my time
Now you're a fool to me
Had to find out you told me lies
That's news to me
Had to give up, switch sides
Now you're a fool to me
Guess I'll be better off by myself

Ay, yeah, one man's trash is another man's treasure
And one man's pain is another man's pleasure
Now you can take a look but you won't find nobody better
And you told me that you love me, maybe you were under pressure
I don't know if I can ever trust someone again
Let alone get your presence out of my bed, you a ghost
Always creeping round in my head, let me go
'Cause lately I'm not getting any rest
Never thought that you would be the one to go and break me down
I took you to the tropics, now you leaving me to drown
I don't wanna leave my room in case I see you out around
You were meant to be my queen but you left me without a crown

New to me
You spending all my time
Now you're a fool to me
Had to find out you told me lies
That's news to me
Had to give up, switch sides
Now you're a fool to me
Guess I'll be better off by myself