

6 Weeks

Beach Bunny

Let's go back, let's go back to the start
Let's begin at the end when you tore me apart
You didn't try, didn't try to make me cry
But I bawled like a baby when you said, "goodbye"
When you said, "goodbye"

And I've been replayin' the same song for six weeks
Trying to figure out what you're feeling
And I've been replayin' the same song for six weeks
Trying to find a piece of your heartbeat

Can we go back? Can we go back? Can we go back?
Can we go back? Can we go back? Can we go back?
Can we go back? Can we go back? Can we go back?

Sittin' back, sittin' back, in the backseat of your car
So when we went around corners
I could lean a little closer into your shoulder
I have a heart attack
Every time you get up, get up, get up, get up, oh
'Cause you said you'd be back soon
But the other ones said that too

I've been replayin' the same song for six weeks
Trying to find a piece of you
I've been replayin' the same song on repeat
Trying to find a piece of you

Can we go back? Can we go back? Can we go back?
Can we go back? Can we go back? Can we go back?

I've been replayin' the same song for six weeks
Trying to find a piece of your heartbeat
I've been replayin' the same song on repeat
Trying to find a piece of you

Can we go back? Can we go back? Can we go back?
Can we go back? Can we go back? Can we go back?
