

I feel your fingers on my spine
And all the rocks that I was too afraid to climb
And the fossils that we found back then
Reveal themselves through my whole life

On Provost and Thicket, I tried
To learn how to live within a lie
Took me back to Rectory
When you cut me down
What happened to all your fight?

Well, Hell, I don't know
It's always the same thing
If I could take it back, love
I'd take it back, love
If I could take it back, love
I'd take it back, love
If I could take it back, love
I'd take it back, love

At the railway inn, I broke
Bile enough for lifetimes I have chocked
I can't feel a thing
I haven't seen the light for, oh so long

I'm gonna give you all that I have
I pray that it's enough for us to last
I miss the way you trusted me
With anything with everything
Can we just go back?

Well, Hell, I don't know
It's always the same thing
If I could take it back, love
I'd take it back, love
If I could take it back, love
I'd take it back, love
If I could take it back, love
I'd take it back, love
If I could take it back, love
I'd take it back, love

If I could take it back, love
I'd take it back, love
If I could take it back, love
I'd take it back, love
If I could take it back, love
I'd take it back, love
If I could take it back, love
I'd take it back, love
