

The best part about being human
Is being alive
And the second best part is watching every single heart
Slowly disappear and die
And of course, that's sarcasm
'Cause why would I ever lie?
I want everyone I love to live forever by my side

Burn your eyes into my mind
I see fires along the coastline
And I'll know that I have tried
But failed a thousand times
A thousand times
And I know I don't seem emotional
When I talk to you some nights
But just know that I try hard
Must be hard to keep it all inside

When I wake up, I put my head underwater
And that moment feels much longer than it is
I find the feeling, I break it down
I form a sentence with my mouth
Create a string of words that make you feel like I do

'Cause I know slowly overtime
I'll become someone I might like
Need to fall to feel alive
Like the time the chain fell off my bike, yeah

Burn your eyes into my mind
I see fires along the coastline
And I'll know that I have tried
But failed a thousand times
A thousand times
And I know I don't seem emotional
When I talk to you some nights
But just know that I try hard
Must be hard to keep it all inside

Burn your eyes into my mind
I see fires along the coastline
And I'll know that I have tried
But failed a thousand times
And I know I don't seem emotional
When I talk to you some nights
Just know that I try hard
Must be hard to keep it all inside