

Sway

Bearings

Context: she's on my mind
For a second, learned my lesson and I realign
I can tell you what you want but that's not the vibe
So I'm thinking for a minute like I got the time

We take something
We're always taking something
And turn it into nothing
We turn it into nothing

Sway
You're swimming in my veins
Around your room
And it's not the same without you
To something blue
She bases what she's drinking on the place and time of day
Says that she loves California but she hates LA, okay

You don't talk about your thoughts now, so your mind is mine to read
I've got something in me twisting up, screaming time is all I need
What you think about a conversation?
What you think about a different line?
What you think about me and you?
I lost track of time

We take something
We're always taking something
And turn it into nothing
We turn it into nothing

Sway
You're swimming in my veins
Around your room
And it's not the same without you
To something blue
She bases what she's drinking on the place and time of day
Says that she loves California but she hates LA, okay

We take something
We're always taking something
And turn it into nothing
We turn it into nothing

Sway
You're swimming in my veins
Around your room
And it's not the same without you
To something blue
She bases what she's drinking on the place and time of day
Says that she loves California but she hates LA, okay

Sway
You're swimming in my veins
Around your room
And it's not the same without you
To something blue
She bases what she's drinking on the place and time of day

Says that she loves California but she hates LA, okay

She bases what she's drinking on the place and time of day
Says that she loves California but she hates LA, okay