

Transient Colours

Bearings

Feel it in your soul
Now you know
We're in everything
Feel it in your soul
Now you know
We're in everything

It was the little things that slowly drove us apart
And when you put me in your feeling it wasn't much it was a start
And all those other things
They seemed to matter not so much
I was dying for that time back when you could heal me with a simple touch

One day loved the thought
Ever getting lost
In her arms
Replace what I lost
This is what it cost
Young and numb
You will always be
On my mind it seems
We were one
I could have it all and I would wish that you were still here

All we are
Is all we know
Burning up inside our souls
Hate the thought of letting go
And all of you
Is all of me
I see you in the stars and wonder
Simple things in transient colours

Now tell me everything
Tell me everything you'd like
And I'll be listening
Like the silence on a summer night
One day I'll be gone
Ever getting lost in the stars
Void of any thought
Yeah I know you know what we are
You will always be in my soul it seems
Never far
We will lose it all and I will find you in the stars dear

All we are
Is all we know
Burning up inside our souls
Hate the thought of letting go
And all of you
Is all of me
I see you in the stars and wonder

Say hello for me to your mother
I'll miss you like a northern summer
Drinking with your older brother

Just simple things in transient colours

Feel it in your soul

Now you know

We're in everything

Feel it in your soul

Now you know

We're in everything
