Sitting Pretty

Bears In Trees

You never fall in love right
You never break a heart neat
You leave the pieces there so small
They'll cut your souls as you walk
As you run
As you crawl

But there are good vibes all around
These are good lies, hold me down

I'm picking apart my poems
I'm ripping apart my reasons
You're sick of me always screaming
But I'm screaming out my demons

(Be happy now)
Hold your head and your heart so heavy
It'll keep you on the ground
You're always changing in the worst of ways
Wear the wrong clothes on the wrong days

And that's why it's so weird!
Wearing your monday socks on tuesday
A rebellion at school
Now we just kick cans into chris' plastic pool

Hey man we're all on the same high tonight
(Sertraline and cold coffee)
Seems sad, we swallow the flames don't cry despite (I can hear the raven knocking)

(Be happy now)
I'll it sing in the mirror like Stormzy screaming out Adele
Or we could get!... food together
Hot chocolate and a panini as well

Sitting pretty by the seaside
Burning plastic to keep us dry
I'm scared we'll never feel like this again

Yeah, I watch Bojack when I'm sad too
What else is there to do? but-

Yeah! I watch bojack when I'm sad too!
What else is there to do! But-

(Be happy now)
And we said, and we meant
And we should, if you could

(Be happy now)
And we said, and we meant
And we could, then you should

(Be happy now)
