

One More

Beartooth

Sitting alone in my basement again
Staring at the screen thinking what comes next
I've been at this for days but the nights are worse
The key's in my head but my mind is cursed

Where's the moment of divine intervention
Where's the moment of divine inspiration

I'm saying
I'm yelling
I'm screaming this at myself

One more song,
Give me one more song
To free my head I need sound alone
One more song,
Give me one more song
To be content in this life unknown

Patience is no longer a virtue I have
I try to find emotion from my broken past
Tossing and turning is what got me here
Maybe sleep deprivation has kept my conscience clear

Where's the moment with an ounce of salvation
Where's the moment where I feel re-creation

I'm saying
I'm yelling
I'm screaming this at myself

One more song,
Give me one more song
To free my head I need sound alone
One more song,
Give me one more song
To be content in this life unknown

Please understand me
I'm breathing not living
I wanna know if my souls worth saving

One more song,
Give me one more song
To free my head I need sound alone
One more song,
Give me one more song
To be content in this life unknown