

Aphrodite

Beatenberg

I know you got a hundred lovers, or maybe more
I know that you could do without me
I know you're gonna live forever, but look at me
I am dissolving like the foam on the sea

So babe, what's a little bit of your time?
With a watch around my wrist, I'm callin' out for you to be mine

Tell me are you there when I call?
Tell me are you listenin' at all?
I just wanna know you can hear me
Your cool silence of stone
Moving all the weight of my bones
To whatever music you give me

Latching on to you with my life, pull me through
You're such a treasure to discover
You came in just like a raging sea, jealous and proud
Hold me deep in with your waves

And I can barely breathe when you're so unkind
Oh, I can't believe you're just an image in my mind

Tell me are you there when I call?
Tell me are you listenin' at all?
I just wanna know you can hear me
Your cool silence of stone
Moving all the weight of my bones
To whatever music you give me

I'm by the water's drowsy blaze
With a towel around my waist
Seagull's shadow, tern of the tide
Mind lustful, body chaste

Tell me are you there when I call?
Tell me are you listenin' at all?
I just wanna know you can hear me
Your cool silence of stone
Moving all the weight of my bones
To whatever music you give me

Tell me are you there when I call?
Tell me are you listenin' at all?
I just wanna know you can hear me
Your cool silence of stone
Moving all the weight of my bones
To whatever music you give me

You're the brightest planet
You're a pomegranate
With a heart of granite
Like my girlfriend Janet

You're the brightest planet
You're a pomegranate
With a heart of granite

Like my girlfriend Janet