

Worth More

Beatenberg

I'm putting on a shirt
One you made me
Weird to wear it now
But I really like it

And it's a wonder
That these parakeet-shaped buttons
Don't make me look
Like a complete fool
Or maybe they do

I never
I never told you why
I never told you why

I could give you my
Never-ending love
For the rest of time
But you're worth more than that
I could turn it up
Still it's not enough
Cause you're way too much
And you're worth more than that
I could ring a bell
I could treat you well
Give all of myself
But you're worth more than that

I'm sitting in a chair
Monday evening
Going anywhere
Is running away
And maybe there are words I use too often
But there are words
I do not use enough

I wanna
I wanna tell you why
I wanna tell you why

I could give you my
Never-ending love
For the rest of time
But you're worth more than that
I could turn it up
Still it's not enough
Cause you're way too much
And you're worth more than that
I could ring a bell
I could treat you well
Give all of myself
But you're worth more than that

You're worth more than that
You're worth more than that

I could give you my
Never-ending love
For the rest of time
But you're worth more than that
I could turn it up
Still it's not enough
And you're worth more than that
I could ring a bell
I could treat you well
Give all of myself
But you're worth more than that
