

Changing

Becky Hill

Circles start but have no end, oh
I chase my tail to who-knows-where, I don't know

'Cause I've got my hands out in the dark
Trying to talk to God
Wondering if She forgot I'm here
All I feel is scared
Questions everywhere
Everybody wants an answer

Who knows what is wrong or right?
Wish I could see it all clearer
And I don't even recognise
Who's staring back in the mirror

'Cause I'm still holding on to my mistakes
Walls are closing in, I have no space
Finding that I'm stuck in my old ways
While everything's changing
I'm still waking up when night begins
Need to wash away all of my sins
Finding that I'm so hard to convince
While everything's changing

While everything's changing
While everything's changing
While everything's changing
While everything's changing

The ground moves underneath my feet, oh
Stumble and fall, I feel defeat, I can go

Because I've got my hands out in the dark
Trying to talk to God
Wondering if She forgot I'm here
All I feel is scared
Questions everywhere
Everybody wants an answer

Who knows what is wrong or right?
Wish I could see it all clearer
And I don't even recognise
Who's staring back in the mirror

'Cause I'm still holding on to my mistakes
Walls are closing in, I have no space
Finding that I'm stuck in my old ways
While everything's changing
I'm still waking up when night begins
Need to wash away all of my sins
Finding that I'm so hard to convince
While everything's changing

While everything's changing
While everything's changing
While everything's changing
While everything's changing

While everything's changing
