

Losing

Becky Hill

Someone in the world tonight is dancing on their own
Trying hard to get it right, tired of being alone
Arms spread open wide, face up to the sky
There's nobody by your side, but still you're asking why

Is there someone out there, to keep you breathing
Tryna find an answer, to somehow, stop this feeling
Can you hold on, I'm through with losing
Is there someone out there, who really loves you
In the dark, near or far, you found a heart who wants you
Can you hold on, I'm through with losing

I wonder how you sleep at night, are all your roses thorned?
Has everything gone black and white, since I've been gone
Cause I don't know about you now, and I was gonna ask you if
If your life's turned upside down, whether you still reminisce
But you know I wish you well, in everything you do
But it's me you left behind, and I have feelings too, anyway

Is there someone out there, to keep you breathing
Tryna find an answer, to somehow, stop this feeling
Can you hold on, I'm through with losing
Is there someone out there, who really loves you
In the dark, near or far, you found a heart who wants you
Can you hold on, I'm through with losing

Ooooh yeah
Ooooh yeah
Once you once you can

Is there someone out there, to keep you breathing
Tryna find an answer, to somehow, stop this feeling
Can you hold on, I'm through with losing
Is there someone out there, who really loves you
In the dark, near or far, you found a heart who wants you
Can you hold on, I'm through with losing

I'm through with losing
I'm through with losing
I'm through with losing
I'm through with losing
I'm through with losing
